Friday Night Fish 'n' Chips

Remember you can have your fish battered, crumbed or grilled.

This week John Milne will be in charge of the fish and Ian Waller-Wilkinson will be frying the chips.

Salads will be prepared by Kay Chapman. Afterwards, enjoy coffee, tea and delectable desserts, available for purchase from Suzanne Pike.

Vagabond Winter Series - Race 5

Sunday, September 01, on a perfect Spring Day, we saw the running of the fifth and final race in the Vagabond Winter Series. At 9.00am the club was a buzz with eager sailors rigging up their boats keen to be out on the water. Six Vagabonds in total were finally rigged and ready to go. But, there was one problem. Even with two Sailing Masters, Peter Deane (outgoing) and Ian Waller Wilkinson (current), they still couldn't get the wind right. There was not even enough wind to get them off the beach.

Finally it was up to the Commodore out on the Pontoon with his officials Alan Kimber, Moss Lane and Ivan Scott to organise enough wind to get them to the starting line.

Finally they were off, so to speak. It took several crews at least ten minutes to start.

Meanwhile back on the Pontoon, Alan was wishing he had brought a fishing line to fill in the time and Moss and Ivan who were stationed along the course in the RIB got bored and returned to the Pontoon.

Eventually the wind picked up and they finished the race with Bruce Legg and crew member Richard coming a clear first and the rest strung out over the course.

By the second race the wind had picked up and they completed the course in about half the time with the boats much tighter bunched. Again Bruce and Richard were first.

What doesn't Bruce understand about handicapping?
